

Principles of Ethics in Nursing part (2)

Prepared by
Dr. Bardes Shaban

5-Confidentiality

- Confidentiality comes from Latin word "Fide" mean (Trust), which means keep information private.
- Confide as to "show trust by keeping secrets".
- Refers to personal information that is protected as private information.

- Patient's information may not be released by healthcare providers when acquired without taking consent from a patient.
- Ex: When a patient's test is positive for HIV/AIDS and has no intention of telling his spouse about this diagnosis. In this instance, the physician is obligated to warn the spouse directly or indirectly to prevent harm.

- This area of legislation concerned with conflict between privacy and disclosure.
- Between what is good for the individual and what is good for society.

Can Nurses Violate Confidentiality?

Yes

6-Justice / Seeks fairness

- It refers to treating people fairly.
- It is the fair distribution of services, benefits and costs among society's members.

- The law is the justice system. It focuses on the protection of society , but the health law is focused on the protection of the patients.
- Nurses frequently face decisions in which a sense of justice should prevail. E.g. busy unit and new admission

- Ex: nurse is responsible for 3 patients , and suddenly there is anew pt admission who need quickly interventions.

Here: all patients should treat equally ,but according to the severity of cases.

- Ex: if there is 2 patients required o2 supply , one of them emergent case, and one stable case.

O2 supply to the emergent case

The following nursing implications promote justice:

- Ensuring fair allocation of resources (nurses) , appropriate staffing.
- Determining the order in which clients should be treated. (Example: priority treatments for the clients in pain).

7.Veracity: (Telling the Truth)

- The obligation to tell the truth and not to lie or , being honest.
- Veracity is an important component of building trusting relationships.
- Veracity, or truth telling is closely linked to informed decision making and informed consent.

8-Fidelity

- It refers to keep promises.
- Fidelity means being faithful to one's commitments and promises.

Fidelity is not only keeping commitment, but also keeping or continuous maintaining our obligation.

Thank
you