Section 3: Paraphrasing (20 Marks)

Instructions:

Read the paragraph below carefully. Then, rewrite it using your own words. Do not copy the original sentences. Try to keep the same meaning and write about 15 lines.

Paragraph to Paraphrase:

Many students find it difficult to manage their time between studies, social life, and part-time jobs. Poor time management often leads to stress and low academic performance. One way to improve this is by creating a daily schedule and setting clear priorities. When students organize their time effectively, they can balance their responsibilities and reduce pressure. Good time management also helps in developing self-discipline and achieving long-term goals. With consistent effort, students can improve their habits and succeed in both academic and personal life.
